Background:

Mickey spent nearly half his life enunciating the English language; first on CBC radio (CHAT) and then Television. He took great pride in delivering the news in a clear and accurate manner. Clarity and accuracy were his passion; in business and in everyday usage. He would be honoured to know that his beneficiaries have made a contribution in his name, to encourage young people, for whom he had great affection, to strive for excellence in both written and spoken English. It is our fondest hope that this scholarship become an enduring testament to the stalwart defender and promoter of the beauty of the English language: James Michael (Mickey) Lynch.
